

The boy felt the yellow turn into green as it touched his heart and poured into his arms and hands.

The gentle green filled his heart with love and made his arms feel like blades of grass swaying in the breeze.

The turtle also felt the green touch his heart and pour into his arms and hands as he drifted still closer to the boy.